

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Paul Buckley
Alto Professional
(401) 658-3131 x1222
pressrelations@altoprofessional.com

ALTO PROFESSIONAL INTRODUCES TROUPER, A WORKHORSE PA SYSTEM FOR SOLO ARTISTS AND SMALL ENSEMBLES

Easily-transportable, high-performance PA delivers great sound in small venues

Cumberland, RI USA (January 22, 2015)—Alto Professional (altoprofessional.com), the world's leading innovator for live performance reinforcement products, today announced the introduction of their workhorse small-venue PA system, Trouper. It's a compact high-performance PA system designed to perfectly fulfill the unique demands of solo artists and small ensembles. Building on their experience with the widely acclaimed Truesonic and Black Series large-scale sound reinforcement systems, Alto turned their engineering expertise to developing the best small-venue PA system possible.

Trouper is a 2-way 200-watt bi-amplified system housed in a very trim enclosure measuring just 8.4 x 29.2 x 10.1" (212 x 740 x 257mm) HWD. The drive units are three 6 ½" (165mm) woofers and a 1" (25mm) high-frequency compression driver, which span the full musical frequency range from 65-20kHz. Its internal amplifier is divided 130 watts to the woofers and 70 watts to the tweeter. The system has thermal and dynamic overload protection, so the sound is always clean and clear no matter how hard it's pushed.

Trouper is brimming with thoughtful touches and conveniences that are exactly what artists need to ensure their performances are smooth and glitch-free:

- Three channels of inputs: line/mic 1, line/mic 2, and Aux
- XLR, RCA, ¼" and 1/8" connectors
- 2-Band (LF/HF) built-in EQ for each channel
- Full Bluetooth® capability for streaming input signals wirelessly (plus wireless linking of another Trouper system for stereo applications)
- Trapezoidal enclosure dramatically reduces internal standing wave resonances, resulting in cleaner output in upper bass and vocal range

Trouper was also designed to be easy to set up, use, and take real-life punishment:

- Stand-mountable with 35mm threaded pole socket
- Rugged: Scuff-resistant black vinyl wrap and protective steel corners
- Easily transportable: Lightweight (just 23 lbs.) and built-in handle.

Add it all up, and Trouper is a great-performing, flexible, go-anywhere PA system that makes any small-venue performance sound its best.

"Alto Professional is well-established as one of the world's leading sound reinforcement companies for medium- and large-scale environments," said Dustin Plumb, Product Manager for Alto Professional.

“With Trouper, we’ve brought that proficiency and great sound quality to smaller spaces, so any size group benefits from Alto Professional’s sound expertise.”

Trouper pricing will be as follows:
$199.99 USD

Trouper will be globally available in April 2015 at Alto Professional dealers.

Please visit us at NAMM, Booth 6700.

For more information, visit altoprofessional.com.

###

About Alto Professional

Established in 2000, Alto Professional (altoprofessional.com) manufactures a full line of world-class Live Performance Reinforcement equipment. Using modern manufacturing techniques, cutting-edge DSP technology, and sophisticated design, Alto Professional’s products are precision-engineered to provide both exceptional performance and exceptional value for performing musicians and live sound engineers. Alto Professional is a member of the premier family of brands known as inMusic (inmusicbrands.com).